

C# Code Example

Using the Microsoft Visual Studio IDE to develop an ASP.NET program, a connection a database is established, and products for a user to buy are shown. An image is displayed depending on which product the selects. The user can then enter in a quantity, and add it to their shopping cart.

The shopping cart displays the items that the user has chosen so far, as well as the quantity of those items and the list price of each item. The user can select an item and press the remove item button to remove it from the cart, or they can press the empty cart button to clear their cart of all items. They can also press the continue shopping button to select another item, or they can check out.

The user enters in there contact information, as well as the billing and shipping addresses.
